THE FACTS Publisher Named to Editorial Advisory Board

Fitzgerald Beaver, publisher of THE FACTS NEWSPAPERS, has been named to the editorial advisory baord of The National BLACK MONITOR -- the new issue-oriented, full color supplement to this and other leading newspapers that monitors the actions of all in regard to black Americans.

We who publish and edit this newspaper realize that we are living in awesome times where so-called "simple" miscarriages of justices produced a Watergate...where stopping and frisking every black man in San Francisco brings back reflections of Japanese internment and Jewish pogroms...where a white student named De Funis can generate massive support against the principal of "equitable" treatment to compensate for centuries of long-standing and unredeemed injustices. These are only a few of the problems that face black Americans and trouble every other concerned American who knows that a continuation of situations like these could threaten the freedom and well-being of every American.

We who publish and edit this paper believe that the best answers for dealing with these "dilemmas" resides in an intelligent and/or informed people who are guided today from lessons learned about yesterday. With this kind of thinking in mind, our supplement--The National BLACK MONITOR--will be presenting to its readers for the rest of this year many facts about two specific periods of our history.

They call these periods the First Reconstruction Era -- a period running from 1854 to 1883, and the Second Reconstruction Era -- another period running from 1954 to approximately 1983. The articles will draw parallels so we as black people can see how we have allowed the worst in our history to repeat itself.

We at the FACTS NEWSPAPERS feel our readers will learn much and be guided more effectively in our actions today. Writers and thinkers such as Harold R. Sims, Dr. Nathan Wright, Jr., Dr. William A. Jones, Jr., Dr. Virgil A. Wood and others will be drawing analogies for us to learn from. Because students and others will surely want to save this series along with other informative articles, hole punch guides will be provided in the margin for insertion in a standard three-ring note book.

Normally, an attractive and well-researched magazine-like periodical like The National BLACK MONITOR would cost 35 cents or more if purchased on the newstand. However, we are providing this supplement for our readers at absolutely no cost.

Finally, since our publisher is on the editorial advisory baord, we need your comments and suggestions so all of us can help make The National BLACK MONITOR and this paper your leaders for survival and self-development. Don't miss this series in this paper.

Meditation is the pathway to a more intimate life with God, and when it is cultivated as a fine art, it gives us a taste of a peace and joy that are simply out of this world.

Modettes Need Uniforms

THE MODELETTES drill team marches in last year's daffodil Parade. The team needs new uniforms if they are to march in any parades this summer.

The Modelettes drill team needs new uniforms.

The team is composed of Model Neighborhood girls who have been marching for the last four years. Frank Bennett of Stanley School is the leader of the team.

The Modelettes have participated in a number of parades in the past, buy they missed the Daffodil Parade this year because they didn't have money for uniforms. With a number of new members and with the girls growing, the old uniforms are useless.

If the group can raise enough money, they will be able to march in a parade in Seattle in the middle of May. Donations can be sent to Tacoma Modelettes, 622 Tacoma Ave., Tacoma, Wash. 98405. If you would like to help raise funds, call Lucille Delaney, youth coordinator, at 593-4660.

Mrs. Delaney said, "It is gratifying, in these days of so much adverse publicity about our young people, to see a group as large as this working, practicing, and learning together."

Rap-On From the Commander's Desk

Amvets Post
Chuck Horne, Commander

Congratulations are in order for the Urban League, Painer Hall Masons, Ray Gibson's Caballeros Club for their splendid efforts in humanitarianism. Wouldn't it be wonderful if unification and self - esteem became contagious?

One should not overlook the important fact that our youth today are extensions of ourselves and must be prepared by comprehensive and viable means to become social, political and economic task masters of the future. An effort must be put forth to establish concepts of usefulness, belonging and stability. We cannot lose quarter in our fight for unity, pride, self-awareness and economic independence. There is a need to exemplify mutual trust and respect if we are to survive as a Black nation. "Black on Black Aggression, Hostility, and Shooting Junk" is Genocide. We need to systematically live - not systematically die. We do not need martyrs, we need leaders. Please brothers and sisters: Stop! Think! Get on the good foot!

Amvet Post #9 is open for membership. Help us build strong minds, and character.

Ms. Oleatha Pigford

Resolutions of Sister Oleatha Pigford

Whereas, we, the members of Eastside Baptist Church desire to place on record our love and esteem for Sister Oleatha Pigford. We thank the Lord for the privilege of having known this fine and spiritual personality, who was so interested in God's work. Sister Pigford was a member of the Eastside Baptist Church for about six years, and during this time she was Sunday School Superintendant, Mission Director, Sunday School Teacher, Bible Training Union Director, Vacation Bible School Director, a member of the Choir, and attended many conventions, also taught some study courses. People enjoyed working with her because of her beautiful personality, one who always found the time to do for others, and to help hold up the blood stained banner for the cause of Christ.

Therefore, be it resolved: that even as we mourn Sister Pigford's going away from us, we are resigned to the will of an all knowing, and kind Heavenly Father.

Therefore, we wish to extend to the family, and relatives our deep sympathy in their loss; and the reminder that their loss is Heaven's gain;

When the last step is taken
And we stand in our place,
When the heavens are open
And we see Jesus' face,
We shall look up with gladness
His praises to sing,
When the last step is taken
We will welcome our King.
When our work is over
And the victory is won,
We shall hear Jesus saying,

"Faithful servants, well done"
When the last trump is sounded
And the Heavens unfold,
With joy we shall enter that city of gold.

Eastside Baptist Church

Mrs. Oleatha Newton Pigford of 402 North "G" Street, Apt. 15 entered into eternal rest Friday evening, April 26, 1974 at 8:30 pm at Madigan General Hospital, Tacoma Washington.

She was born Feb. 5, 1922 to Rev. and Mrs. Otis Newton of Guadloupe, Texas where she gr grew up, attended school and was baptized at the Corinth Baptist Church at a very early age. The oldest of six children, she later moved to San Antonio, Texas where she met and married some thirty years ago Rev. Orlando R. Pigford.

The late and beloved Mrs. Orlander (Oleatha) Pigford is survived by her husband of the home, two sons, Carl of Los Angeles, Calif. and Charles of Evanston, Ill.; father, Rev. Otis Newton, San Antonio, Texas; two granddaughters, Sharon Rainey of Los Angeles and Othalia Rainey of San Antonio, Texas; three sisters Mrs. Verna Cammon and Mrs. Irleen Lay of Los Angeles, Calif., and Mrs. Flossie King of Columbus, Texas; and a host of relatives and friends.

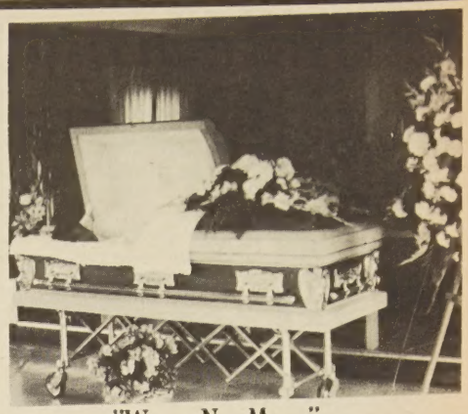
Rev. and Mrs. Orlander R. Pigford came to Tacoma in 1963 from Anchorage, Alaska where he had served as pastor of the Greater Friendship Baptist Church and where Oleatha worked in and with his ministry. She organized the youth Black Ministers Wives Association here in the city after being here and seeing the many needs the ministers wives could help to alleviate.

After joining the St. Paul Baptist Church, she organized the youth department and the youth choir. One of last tasks was as chairlady for the 10th Anniversary of the St. Paul Baptist Church that is to convene on the 26th of May. As we thought of her to be in pain and suffering, she was still making plans to complete her work here on earth and getting her business right to meet her maker. Sleep on Oleatha and take your rest. We loved you, but God loved you best.

It broke our hearts to lose you but you did not go alone for part of us went with you, the evening God called you home. A million times we have longed for you. A million times we have cried and if love could have saved you, you never would have died.

The first funeral services were held at 7:30 pm pm April 29, 1974 at the St. Paul Baptist Church Church, the Rev. Elijah Hankerson, officiating. Services were directed by the staff of Allen's Evergreen Funeral Home, Seattle, Wash.

A second funeral service was directed by Colo lins Funeral Home, 403 Center St., San Antonio, Texas, Wednesday, May 1, 1974 at 2:00 pm at the the Greater Baptist Church, Rev. J.J. Rector, officiating. Final Interment at Memorial Park, San Antonio, Texas.



"Weep No More"

by Helene Thomas

Weep no more now,
at our friend's departing;

Sickness and trials
now cease to be.

She has disrobed nd walked beyond another door.

She is at rest...now from all labors.

Weep no more ...
my God has set her free.

The Pigford Family uses this method to say to our many friends who shared in the acts of kindness and words of sympathy, during the illness and eventual demise of our wife and mother Oleatha Pigford, "We thank you one and all."
From: Bob, Carl and Charles

For we know that if the earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have a building of God, a house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens.

Whereas Sister Oleatha E. Pigford was faithful to her commitment to the cause of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, and to the work of the Tacoma Ministerial Alliance as a member of the Ministers Wives Auxiliary.

Be it resolved that we humbly submit to the divine will of our Lord and Master who has called her from labor to reward.

Be it further resolved that we cherish the memory of this beloved sister and thank God that such a loving and outgoing life, such as she lived, did indeed tabernacle among us.

Be if also resolved that a copy of this resolution be given to the family and a copy be placed in the records of the Alliance.

THE RAY GIBSON'S CABALLEROS NEWS

By Henry L. Johnson

Hello brothers, how do you like our new name, I believe Ray would have wanted it. I see the change as a living memorium for all of Tacoma to remember him by.

Spencer Sears has been spinnin' and grinnin' during our breaks at the Club, and he informs me to look for him to spin at the Tacoma Boys Club. Spencer is one dedicated dude who loves kids.

Hey, I gotta mention this, Brother Atlas Cole has this little shop next to the FACTS office that's something else. A little bit of everything. Brother Cole is a hard worker for lots of others besides the Club and the kids remember him best at Christmas in his red suit.

The Afro-American society did a bang-up J.O.B. at the Caballeros last Sunday, first prize went to a talented Reggie Ray for his impersonation of Al Green. It's affairs like the Afro Americans that bring people together.

Former Caballero President Curtis Dudley has once again joined the Bar staff as alternate manager. He was Ray's assistant from '62 to '68. Curits, a 26 year Ft. Lewis employee is also Executive Vice-President for AFGE # 1504, and a member of our executive board.

Mayor Johnston made an appearance at the Club last weekend. President Gill was his host for the night. It's good to see the Mayor take an interest in the Club.

Ray Gibson's Caballero Ronnie Barker took a little time from his picture taking to inform me that he's looking for pro-truck drivers for interstate trips, his number is 572-4971. That's something to look into. I'd like to take this time to mention the Caballeros business bulletin board I'm compiling. Something to inform all of the business' owned or operated by Ray Gibson's Caballeros. Leave your business cards at the Club in care of me or mail to Henry Johnson, 2024 So. 17th st., Tacoma, 98045.

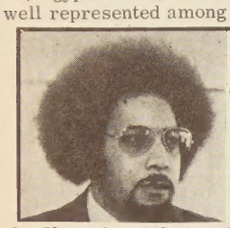
Youth Contact Shows Casual Atmosphere

VISITORS and staff examine drug display during recent open house at Youth Contact Foundation.

At a recent open house, the Youth Contact Foundation demonstrated the casual atmosphere of its office which has been so effective in reaching Hilltop youth.

During the informal open house, people came in and out looking at a variety of drug displays. Two films depicted the results of drug abuse.

Youth Outreach is one of the programs which could not be funded in the recent allocation of funds. Several other programs will be out of funds unless some more monies are made available soon.



Dear Tac Vac

by Ted Jefferson

Q--If a veteran finds a house he likes and wants to buy with his GI loan entitlement, but the selling price is higher than the VA appraised value, is there any way he can still get the loan?
A--A veteran may pay more for a home than the VA appraised reasonable value. However, he must certify that, from his own resources, he has paid in cash a sum equal to the difference between the purchase price or cost of the home and its reasonable value.
Q--I am a War II veteran, my wife recently died and is buried in a private cemetary. Will VA pay for a grave marker. She was not a veteran.
A--No.
Q--When I retire from the Army at the end of this year I will travel extensively, and would like to have my monthly retired pay sent direct to a bank for deposit. Is that possible?
A--Yes, but the check may not be deposited to a joint account.

Tutor of the Year

FRED GATEWOOD, TACT director (left) presents a plaque to Sue Rogers and Wilson Principal Maynard Ponko presents a certificate to Cheryl Doering. Both awards are for devoted service to the Model Cities tutoring program.

SUE ROGERS works with a student during a session of the Tacoma Area Child Tutoring Program.

A Wilson High School student was chosen tutor of the year last week by the Tacoma Area Child Tutoring program (TACT).

Sue Rogers was named tutor of the year for her dedication to the tutoring program. She has been tutoring three days a week after school since September.

TACT Director Fred Gatewood says his program is more than a tutoring program. He says it builds relationships which are often as important as learning to read and write.

Sue has shown what Fred means as she has been a friend as well as a teacher to her students. One of her students has been failing in school because the girl was afraid to answer her teacher's questions. With Sue's help the girl is beginning to overcome her fears. The progress has come with genuine concern demonstrated by the gifts Sue buys her student for Christmas and birthdays.

In a recent ceremony, Wilson Principal Maynard Ponko awarded a plaque to Sue for her outstanding work. Another tutor, Cheryl Doering, received a certificate for her work with the TACT program.

THE POLITICIZER

by Lawanna Lee

This week we would like to discuss the importance of your attendance at Public Meetings.

Each week throughout the City of Tacoma public meetings are held with little or no attendance by Minority and other Disadvantaged persons. Governmental public meetings are of the utmost importance to this group of citizens for it is during these meetings that laws are made which affect all of our lives.

In the past as in the present, Minority and other Disadvantaged groups attend public governmental meetings when there is an issue that is of direct concern to their cause.

In the future it will be to the advantage of both these groups to have a representative present at all governmental public meetings.

Governmental officials are merely representatives of the total society. And to be represented effectively each segment of policy-making society must provide input into the process. By attending governmental public meetings, individuals, as well as, groups can become aware of the policy-making procedure, and begin to provide this input in the governmental process.

The following meetings are of particular importance to the Minority and other Disadvantaged members of the community:

City Council, every Tuesday, 7:00 pm, County-City Bldg.

County Commissioners, Mondays & Tuesdays, 10:00 am, County-City Bldg.

Boys Club News

The downtown Tacoma Boys' Club parents Club held their second dance to raise funds for boys club activities on April 20th at the downtown Boys' club. Music was furnished by Charles and the Entertainers.

It was not a very good turn out but the few that were here had a great time because the band put on a great performance and the parents club would like to express their deepest thanks to Charles and the Entertainers for their time that was donated in playing for this Affair.

The parents Club is planning on giving another dance this Friday, May third, here at the Boys' Club, 711 South 25. From 9:00 pm to 1:00 pm and the music will be furnished by Paul Richardson's Band. We hope to see a larger crowd than last time because we are sure there will be a lot of good times. The price will be $1.00 in advance and $1.25 at the door. So come on down and boogie with the latest sounds of The Paul Richardson Band.

PEOPLE, PLACES & THINGS

By Vertist Edwards

In 1941 when Uncle Sam said "I need you", many young men and women went to his aid. Then in 1945 Uncle Sam said, "If you serve me honorably for twenty years or more I will give to you and your dependents certain benefits for the remainder of your lives." Many men volunteered for a military career because of the benefits promised.

During those 20 years, you did your job. And military life was not easy. Each day you were answerable to a superior. You seldom had the priviledge of being more than a human robot. But you did your job, your half of what you thought was a fair exchange: your services in return for military pay and military benefits.

But now we are out and older, many of us over fifty, and suddenly Uncle Sam is saying, "Because of a shortage in the medical field, regrettably services provided for your dependents will be temporarily suspended."

Right now the word is "temporarily suspended". Later the word could be "revoked".

Many wives have been with their husbands over the years struggling just as hard as their mates with the family separations and the poor living conditions that are a part of military life. But now they are no longer able to receive the benefits promised to them as military dependents.

One may begin to wonder if the men who deserted were not justified in thinking that you will not get a just compensation for your services and in feeling that wars are for the benefit of those in power.

How can these retirees tell their children to serve the country by joining the armed forces when they know that if there is a shortage the retiree will be the first discarded?

When Uncle Sam needed men to shoot other men, he drafted if there were not enough volunteers. I now ask: why not draft doctors to protect our military family?

Representative Hicks says the army cannot afford to pay the salaries the doctors require to remain in the armed forces. We are not asking them to stay, but rather to serve for awhile at a salary the military can afford and for as long as there is a need. Doctors should not demand civilian pay rates because those retirees did what was required of them to serve their country honorably, and they did it for less than civilian pay scale.

Persons sharing these sentiments should write their congressmen.

Model Cities Funding Discussed at National Conference

Local delegates to a conference in Washington, D.C., reported that funds have been released to help Model Cities programs make the transition to community development funds. The delegates made their report at the April 25 meeting of the Model Cities Executive Board.

Junior N.R. Ellis, Executive Board chairman, and Ruth Daniels, secretary of the National Citizens Participation Council (NCPC), attended the meeting of the NCPC and the National Model Cities Community Development Directors Association with officials from the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

Mrs. Daniels reported that a $75 million reserve has been released and that another $125 million should be available by June. She explained HUD's position that the $75 million had not been impounded but was being held in reserve for emergencies.

HUD encouraged local programs to begin planning for the funds which will be coming and to plan so all the funds will be used by the beginning of 1975 when revenue sharing is expected to begin. Unused Model Cities funds may be withdrawn after community development funds are available.

Mrs. Daniels said Model Cities programs with strong citizen participation components would be in a better position for transitional funding than programs with weak citizen participation. HUD officials also said current Model Cities employees should become part of new community development departments under HUD guidelines, according to Mrs. Daniels.

Funding for regional citizens councils was also discussed with the HUD officials. Mrs. Daniels said any future funding of citiznes councils would come through the National Citizens Participation Council instead of directly from HUD. Region Ten Citizens Council (Northwest region) has not been funded even though other citizens councils have been.

In other matters, Chairman Ellis reminded the board of the Region Ten Citiznes Council conference to be held inPortland on May 8-11. The theme for the conference is "Transition in Social Change." Mr. Ellis encouraged all interested groups to send representatives to the conference. For more information, call the Citizens Participation Component at Model Cities, 593-4660.

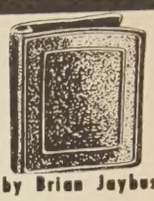
NFL We Love You--But...



by Brian Jaybush

It was all settled. Seattle, they said, was Number One! and the National Football League, just gritting its teeth in anticipation these last few years (ever since Seattle was overlooked in 1968 because they didn't have a staduim) was going hyper for the chance of bestowing one of their multi-million-dollar franchises on the Queen City. The only question to be settled was when the franchise would come, and how many multi-million dollars it would cost.

The big day arrived...the NFL owners gathered with baited breath (after all, Seattle DOES almost have a stadium now!)...and cast their votes. The big event had arrived!

Only Seattle wasn't even mentioned. The vote was in favor of Tampa, Florida's receiving a 16-million dollar franchise in 1976 (and if you can get farther away from Seattle than Tampa, Florida and still be in the continental United States I don't want to know about it).

Various reports trickled back to the Northwest from the suddenly hostile NFL camp. The staduim lease is too high, they said (although the NFL doesn't negotiate stadium leases--it's the team, after all, that must pay it). Oh, the owners were quite impressed with Seattle, and even felt that it was one of the best markets in the country (but then, Tampa is #20...and who needs Number One when you can have Number Twenty?)

County Executive John Spellman came back to town with an unhappy look on his face. "It's a lot of ---" he said, in effect. "The lease isn't too high."

But a lot of people began to think that maybe $16 million for initiation into the NFL was a tad bit high. After all, you add on to that price...which, in reality, is only the hazing fee to let you through the NFL door...you add on to that the cost of player contracts, the cost of operation, the cost of travel...and before you know it, you're knocking on the $25 million door.

That's a lot of milti-million dollars. And so all of a sudden a lot of people--including a group that's been in the forefront for landing an NFL franchise, the Seattle Kings--are looking with renewed vigor at a small but not totally modest group called the World Football League.

The WFL is another creation by Gary Davidson, who brought you such wonders as the American Basketball Association and the World Hockey Association. It has declared war on the NFL, and began its first campaign by hiring away the future services of the likes of Jim Kiick, Larry Czonka, Darryl Lamonica, and more.

And the WFL has a couple of franchises that are just itching to move to Seattle... within 90 days...and play football here this summer.

The Toronto franchise, the one which will receive the services of Czonka, is apparently going to move to Memphis--another of the NFL rejects. But racetrack owner Bill Doner and Hugh McElhenny of the Kings feel that there are one or two other franchises which could be available, if they asked nicely. And both groups are probably willing to ask in the neighborhood of $1 to $2 million nicely.

In all seriousness, Seattle WAS Number One in the eyes of the NFL until the vote was taken; and then something happened--be it staduim lease or whatever. And the NFL says another franchise will be granted for the 1976 season...probably that will be announced in June. It could be Seattle.

But the WFL season will be underway in June. By that time, Seattleites may just not care if the NFL gives Seattle a franchise or hangs itself.

NFL, we do love you. But bridesmaids sometimes get impatient, after the third or fourth try.

A fault recognized is half corrected.

FASHIONABLE

By DENISE

In Paris there is a shop on Avenue De L'Opera whose owner Louis Reard says that women are made to be desired, that young men of today do not know how to appreciate women, and that all they want is to see them in the nude. Reard has designed some of the most provocative bathing suits and lingerie in the world. The bikini was his creation, and under his influence lingerie is growing sexier and sexier. --------

For the adventurous look on your feet this summer, wear a different color on each toenail. When sewing gowns, robes, or what have you for your young, look for flame-retardant fabric. The information should be printed on the end of the bolt... If you can lightly pinch the skin on your side between your thumb and forefinger and grab more than an inch of fat, don't wear leotards. Your figure is not lean enough. Wear a blouse instead.....As hair gets longer it gets older, porous and less resistant to washing, setting, drying and teasing. The best remedy for these tired and split ends is a good blunt cut done professionally. For travel and vacation, machine washable dresses are perfect, and don't forget the dry shampoo in case of an emergency....If your eyes are showing the strain of being up late, try some eye drops to make them feel and look better. Don't use heavy make up; it will only call attention to how you feel.....If you are the size to wear the halter, get one with a short shirt or jacket that can take you into the late cool evening hours.....to brighten up that dark dress, use the delicate pastels in jewelry, nail polish or make-up. You'll be surprised at the difference.
